Student Senate approves changes in constitution

By Brendan Foley

Future candidates for Student Association president may be required to list a vice presidential candidate on the ballot. This and other changes in the SA Constitution were approved by the Student Senate on Monday, Feb. 12. The vote was 18 to 1 with one abstention.

The changes must be approved by the Student Life Committee, the faculty and the Board of Trustees for final passage.

Previously, the SA president selected a vice president after the election without previous announcement of a running mate. A hotly debated provision of the change dropped the requirement that the Senate approve the new vice president.

Among other changes are the elimination of four Senate standing committees and the addition of a clause stating that a student on social probation can run for an SA office provided that the probation ends before the term of office begins.

A committee consisting of Senate President Andy Hahn, SA President Trish Leurck and SA Vice President Mark Randall drafted the revisions. The need to revamp the constitution has been recognized by the Senate for several years, but the document had not been thoroughly reviewed.

"We reworded the document to be clearer and easier to understand. Probably 60 percent of what we did involved the revision or elimination of outdated material in a document that needed a house cleaning," said Hahn.

Date set for Spring Formal

The Spring Formal will be held on Saturday, March 24, at 8 p.m. in the Halleck Center Ballroom. Co-chairpersons Kate Kenney and Tom O'Neill, both sophomores, are planning the evening along with all the class officers.

According to O'Neill, the ticket price will be between $10 and $15 per couple. There will be a cash bar for anyone 21 years of age or older. Following cocktails, dinner will consist of prime rib or chicken Kiev. Dancing will be immediately after. The dance is open to all Saint Joseph's College students and their guests.

Student Association offices refurnished to attract students to Halleck third

By Bridget Malone

New furniture was purchased for the Student Association offices on the third floor of Halleck Center this semester. The furniture was bought in an attempt to encourage more student visits to the offices.

"Renovation of the offices was needed," stated Trish Leurck, SA president. "In the past they were mainly used for storage and records. We need to expose Halleck third (floor) and get more people up here."

Renovating the offices and posting office hours of all the elected officers on the bulletin board on Halleck third floor are some of the ways SA hopes to encourage students to give their representatives input.

Leurck also stated, "We've got a dynamic group of officers that want to take an active role. We want to set up a better correspondence with the students to improve the community as a whole."

The SA budget for supplies was used to cover the expenses. The furniture was bought from Green's used furniture store in Rensselaer. Carpet remnants were purchased from Hoover House.

The Student Union Board offices are scheduled to be renovated next.

Dorm party policy changes draw mixed reactions

By Becky Deel

Dorm parties are no longer allowed to be held in the dorms. They now need to be held in Halleck Center Ballroom and have to be registered with Maggie Flynn, Student Union Board director.

The policy change should clarify the misconception students had about alcohol consumption at parties, said Bill Maniscalco, vice president of Student Affairs. He recognized that students thought alcohol was allowed at parties if it was hidden. Maniscalco also realized that students thought security was inconsistent in raiding parties. He believes that having dorm parties in the ballroom will "rectify the problem of consistency and (allow) greater supervision."

Maniscalco doesn't believe that changing the location of parties will stop the consumption of alcohol, but he believes "individuals should abide by the law." Ernest Watson, head of Security, agrees. "The students know the rules. If they're in the wrong, I'll bust them." "Parties are busted only if people violate others' rights, such as (making) noise at 3:00 in the morning, and if a keg is found by the R.A.," commented Maniscalco.

Some students support Maniscalco's decision.

"Some of the best dances have been held in Halleck," said one junior. "They used to pour vodka in the punch in the Campus Life office. The alcohol, and the party itself, can be better controlled in the Ballroom."

Freshman Sherrie Niccum said, "I don't think it'll be that bad having parties in the Ballroom. The Merlini Christmas Dance was a lot of fun, and it was held in the there. But I don't think they should have banned dorm parties in the middle of the year."

Other students hold different opinions of the new rule.

"If the school wants to control alcohol consumption, (Student Affairs administrators) should concern them-

Not all rumors fall at the same speed

By Richard Pesenko

Gallileo, according to legend, once dropped a pebble and a rock off the Leaning Tower of Pisa to show that all objects fall at the same rate. On this campus, however, not all information travels equally.

On the night of Noll Hall's Toga Party, 124 liters of vodka were confiscated. Within minutes, Puma rumor was spreading like wildfire. An hour after the party was busted, one rumor had it that Noll Hall would have to pay over $7,000 in fines, that the hall was on probation for a year and that all residents of the hall would be on disciplinary probation for a year. Another rumor was that all dorm parties were cancelled for the rest of the year and maybe forever.

Three months later, many people still are not sure about what the hall is responsible for. The Noll Hall government took responsibility for the party. Therefore, no individuals were singled out for disciplinary action.

In an agreement promised after Thanksgiving but only finalized last week, the hall was fined $500 for the possession of an excessive quantity of alcohol, the residents were charged for dorm damage only to Noll and they must perform a service project for a local charity organization. The damage to Halleck Center's windows was covered by insurance. The service project is still in the planning stages.

The residents of Noll are planning on holding an Easter egg hunt for local youth. Student Affairs official Vicki Kosowski, who worked out the disciplinary terms with Noll, hopes that this event, too, becomes an annual tradition for Noll Hall.

Noll Hall was not banned from having another Toga Party next year, they just are not allowed to have any alcohol at it. Bill Maniscalco believes "you can have a party without alcohol."

"Puma rumor" is a part of campus life. The Noll bust was just another example of how something can be blown way out of proportion if people let it. Few students leave campus without their own "Puma rumor," and not all "Puma rumors" are nice. So the next time you hear a "Puma rumor," think about it for a while before you pass it along. It may be as blown up as Noll's was.

Where did booze go??

by Richard Pesenko

Last November, campus security confiscated 124 liters of vodka was to have its Toga Party.

Should any disciplinary hearing occur, campus security turned the alcohol over to Vice President for Business Affairs Jim Thatcher for safekeeping. The vodka was contained in sixty-six 1.75 liter bottles and twelve 750 ml bottles. Thatcher said he "never saw that much alcohol confiscated before."

When disciplinary matters were settled, the alcohol was dumped out. The state of Indiana has laws forbidding the resale of alcohol, so the college was unable to give it to Core 11.

College policy dictates that confiscated bottles and kegs are to be dumped out and kegs to be returned to the distributor for deposit.

'Blue Communists' invade Saturdays

Part Two of Two

By Seth Johnson

Once again I was brave enough to wake up and watch at least two hours of the new Saturday morning cartoons. It is only fair for me to say this, "P. U." I cram to understand how anybody could enjoy themselves by watching a group of turtles perform Kung Fu, Karate, martial arts or whatever it is that Ninja Turtles do.

The cartoons of today are too serious. Cartoons were made to make people laugh. After working hard all week, who wants to wake up on a Saturday morning and watch a Gobot get his head blown off? I guess destruction would be all right in one or two cartoons on a Saturday morning, but not in almost all of them.

I'd rather be tortured by Elvis Presley's acting in his weak and predictable movies for four hours than watch one hour of "Beetlejuice."

I want to know one thing—what is a "Beetlejuice"? The best elucidation I can come up with is that it's some type of alien form of life that possesses the capabilities to take his head off and put it on backwards.

Such creativity! Get more ideas from the movies! But hold on, it gets better. Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, Gobots, Ghostbusters and Smurfs.

SMURFS? PLEASE. GIVE ME A BREAK! I had the opportunity to talk with prestigious professionals in the field of "Cartoonology". We discussed the issues of ethics and the moral structure of Smurfism.

We have come to a conclusion that the Smurfs are just a bunch of "Blue Communists" who are either homosexuals or are still waiting patiently for their turn with Smurfette. What gives justification for this hypothesis? Well, where did the Smurf Baby come from? I'd hate to think it was a community baby.

This auspicious panel tried to find one of the old cartoons that was guilty of immorality and a weak code of ethics. I'm proud to say that we couldn't find anything.

Barney Rubble and Fred Flinstone were too much into their "Water Buffalo Lodge" to be concerned about any fooling around with their wives, much less each other.

I am sad to say that one day our children will grow up watching the new junk cartoons and will never know the joy of watching the old good stuff that I grew up with.

The old cartoons kept America's nose clean and a smile on the face of every little rug rat! These days, cartoons just show little kids how to point guns and shoot. Whenever Elmer Fudd thought he hurt Bugs Bunny, he was always willing to apologize and give a helping hand.

However, the Transformers became triumphant by just shooting a Decepticon's head off; that's ludicrous! Yeah, promote more violence.

I suppose the next generation of cartoons will be something like "Crack Hustlers" or "The New Adventures of the Base Heads".

I can't go on any further. My imagination is running wild, and I'm beginning to scare myself. However, I can't end without saying this, "ABADEA, ABADEA, ABADEA. THAT'S ALL FOLKS!"

Stupid Cupid, leave me alone!

By Seth Johnson

It's that time again. I'm referring to Valentine's Day. This is the time when one should watch out for that little guy with his bow and arrow; you know, Cupid.

This is the time of year when men are at the mercy of women all over the world, especially here on campus. Men often find themselves between a rock and a hard place because the women say, in so many gestures, "Either you do, or you won't!" And so men find themselves in Wilco, Walgreens or Ames purchasing a heart-shaped box of stale chocolate covered cherries and a card that says, "Be My Valentine." How romantic.

One can look around, during January, and find women in the Rec Center jogging or in the weight room trying to lose more weight in hopes of looking good enough to attract a handsome man, or to give themselves an excellent reason to eat that box of stale chocolate covered cherries and not feel guilty. After the exercising and the minor weight lifting, the perfect time to pull out the makeup kit and do some heavy duty painting has arrived.

Those remaining weeks before Valentine's Day, a man can lose his concentration because before him, there are beautiful women in great numbers -- women he has never seen before, at least he thinks he has never seen before.

For most men Valentine's Day can be heartbreaking, because there isn't a wonderful woman that he can spend lump sums of money on, especially if he has it.

Expansion planned for computer network

By Elisa Lukas

This summer, Merlini First will join the school wide computer network. Halas First and Gallagher First are presently connected, and the bulk of the work needed to connect the other floors in these dorms has already been completed. All dorms will be linked to the network during the next few years.

According to Bruce Mathew, director of computer services, the project is still in its experimental stages. The wiring of dorms, thus far, is merely to "check the students' reactions," said Mathew. Presently, there are 42 rooms wired to the system. As of yet, no one has attached a computer in his room.

Students will be expected to supply their own computers and will pay an $85 fee to the school for the rental of a network card. Computers will be available through the school at a 35 to 40 percent discount.

Students may also bring a Zenith, or any compatible IBM or Compaq computer from home. Furthermore, most Macintosh computers could be linked for the same amount of money, although the school does not have that particular type of network card at present.

Alumni-student unity urged in Homecoming

"SJC: Your Past and Our Future" will be the theme for the 1990 Homecoming. The theme was picked because the Alumni Relations office wants to have the alumni and students do more things together.

One attempt at such unity involves moving the bonfire from the Thursday to the Friday night before Homecoming. This way, more alumni will have the chance to attend the bonfire. "We also hope to have outdoor movies and a slide show of the college," said Maggie Flynn, who is in charge of booking entertainment. "But we're still working on it."

Some events will be the same as last year, such as the campus tours, the alumni run, the Beer and Brat tent, and the dinner dance, added Flynn. The 1990 Homecoming will be held on Sept. 29.

Community Days set

The merchants of Rensselaer and Jasper County will offer free food and discount shopping in Halleck Ballroom during Community Days, Feb. 23 and 24.

Retail displays of clothing, jewelry, groceries and other items will be open from noon to 8 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 23, and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 24. Many exhibitors offer free snacks, gifts and discount coupons, to acquaint students with their businesses.

The event is hosted by the Chamber of Commerce of Rensselaer and the SJC student Affairs Office.

WPUM airs desegregation series

"Equal Rights Under the Law," a four-part series concerning desegregation in America, will be aired on WPUM 90.5 FM. The times of the airings are as follows:

Monday, Feb. 12, at 6 p.m. Plessy v Ferguson/Segregation/Roosevelt and Truman.

Wednesday, Feb. 14, at 6 p.m. Black Schools/Howard Law School.

Monday, Feb. 19, at 6 p.m. Jim Crow/Separate and Unequal.

Wednesday, Feb. 21, at 6 p.m. Resistance to Desegregation.

Parties

selves with trying to CONTROL drinking as opposed to obliterating it," said junior George DeRosa. "You can't get rid of it, but you can try to limit it. One of the best ways to control it is to let the dorms run their parties and make the dorms responsible for themselves. Room parties get out of control a lot quicker than dorm parties anyway."

Pat Gimino, governor of Gallagher Hall, can relate to what the other dorms are going through, even though a lack of space has kept Gallagher from having dorm parties in the past few years. "Dorm parties get everyone involved and show dorm unity. You have to go through scheduling conflicts if you have it in the Ballroom. Having parties in the Ballroom defeats the whole purpose of dorm unity."

Noll Treasurer Brian Specht said, "I think it's stupid that one incident (the Noll Toga bust) carried out by a security officer in the wrong makes it so there are no other dorm parties. We should keep it the old way. There were no real problems in the past so why change it?"

"The people on campus need to drink to get out their frustrations," said junior Matt Nowlin. "Students drink as much as they do because there's nothing else on campus to do. We need more facilities. The school should stop worrying about our drinking and start worrying about their lack of facilities."

Maniscalco thinks that there are enough activities offered to the students to keep them from drinking. "I believe we've had an increase of the amount and quality of the programs offered on campus. We hired a student activities director. We have a TV station, current feature films. We're trying to respond."

"The Student Government and the Student Union Board are responsible for student activities," he added.

Players quit men's team due to lack of playing time

By Norb Gray
and Jason Beres

Lack of playing time and the desire to spend more time studying have caused two men's basketball players to quit in January. Juniors Andy Evens and Jerry Redmond played in only seven games and four games, respectively.

Their departures doubled the Pumas' losses since December. That month Matt Eckert was dismissed from the team for disciplinary reasons. Also, Scott Neff quit the team to transfer to Huntington College.

Evens, a junior forward, started the first 5 games for the Pumas last year, and played in all but one. This year, Evens saw almost no playing time.

His departure "was partly because of grades I need more time to prepare for the MCAT's (graduate school exams)," said Evens.

"And it might have helped to play more than seven (in the conference). In this conference you have to push, and we were good enough to go deeper (into the bench). . . but that's his (Head Basketball Coach Bill Hogan's) decision."

Redmond, a junior forward, said, "I was not given a fair chance. When I was a freshman, [Hogan] told the freshman players that underclassmen didn't play much that he preferred to play upperclassmen. Now that I'm an upperclassman, I still don't play, and I don't understand why."

Hogan said that the two former players told him their main reason for leaving was to spend more time on academics. "Since Redmond and Evens were not getting the playing time, they wanted to concentrate more on their studies."

Hogan said he helped Neff switch schools and tried to help him obtain a scholarship at HC.

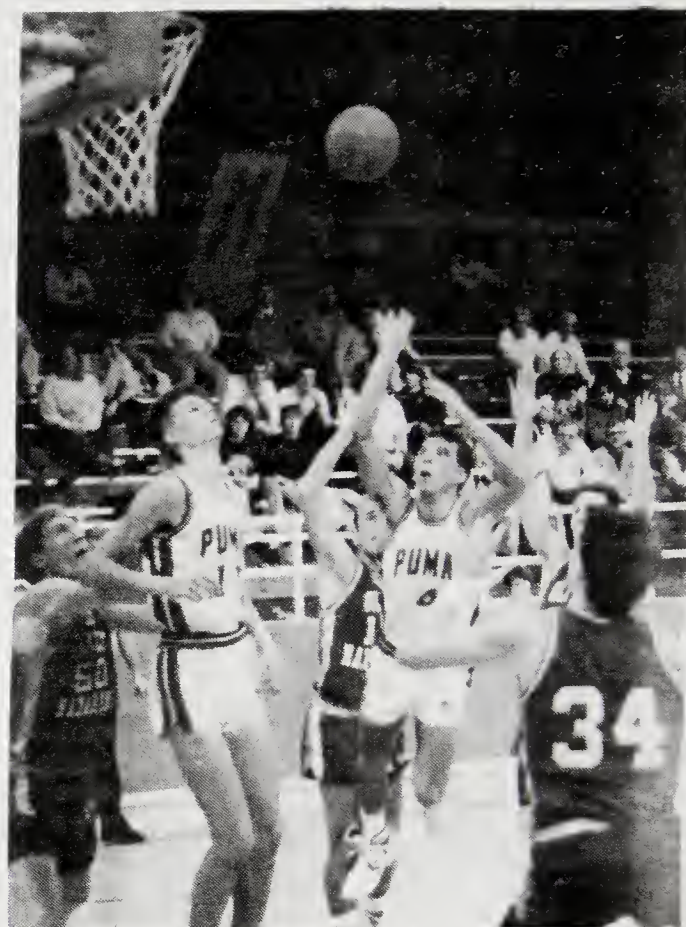

Matt Eckert did not leave the team on his own, but was dismissed by Hogan.

Eckert, a former co-captain, stated, "People are leaving because they are unhappy with Mr. Hogan's ability to handle individuals in a way they deserve. As far as integrity and human dignity are concerned, he just didn't treat them with the respect they deserve."

Hogan ruled out the possibility of the team's recent eight game losing streak being caused by the quitting of players: "The biggest thing has been the flu. We have not been healthy."

A question could be raised about the effects (quitting) this could have on recruiting.

Hogan did not believe this would hamper the team's success. "Ashland lost more people than we did. With freshman eligible, you're bound to lose people. Ashland is still in first place though."

Men's basketball loses eight game in streak

By Bridget Malone

Despite a strong showing in all their games, the Pumas have been coming up short in the long run. They've dropped eight in a row to bring their record to 11-11, and 3-9 in the Great Lakes Valley Conference.

The Pumas lost against the Olivet Nazarene Tigers on a Thursday, Feb. 8. The out-66-36 lead with 16:35 remaining in the Feb. 8 contest 68.

At the half the Tigers had a 30-24 lead, and six minutes into the second half they built a 47-36 advantage, their biggest of the game. The Pumas did fight back to tie the score at 58 with 5:14 remaining, and they lead briefly 62-60 after a Mike Kosky handle on Feb. 3 as Saint Joe emerged a 75-73 win-back 64-62 with 2:34 to go.

The Ashland Eagles gave the Lady Pumas all they could handle on Feb. 3 as Saint Joe emerged a 75-73 win-back 64-62 with 2:34 to go. A 17-7 Puma run to Lowell Harper brought the finish out the first half erased game within reach again with an early 28-20 Ashland lead a 10-foot jumper that tied it and gave Saint Joe a 37-35 up at 68 with 11 seconds to cushion at the intermission. play.

The teams traded baskets until the Pumas took a 70-63 lead with 4:30 remaining. The court and Olivet's Shane Davis shot a three pointer that found the hoop with just a second on the clock.

Damone White had 17 points and led the Pumas in scoring. Lowell Harper had 14, Tim Stunda had 13 and Mike Kosky had 12. Saint Joe out rebounded the Tigers 35-29. Harper led that area with eight, Stunda had six and Kosky had five.

The match-up against the University of Indianapolis Greyhounds on Saturday Feb. 11 seemed like it would be the turn around. The Pumas lead 10-5 in the first four minutes and went into the half with a 44-29 lead. With 6:42 remaining in the second half Indianapolis outscored the Pumas 15-2 and went on to win the game.

The Greyhounds Gary Paul's 10 foot jump shot put Indianapolis within one putting the score at 68-67 with :47 to go. After a missed shot on the Saint Joe end the Greyhound's Jamie Whetsome came up with the ball and the reverse layup with 14 seconds left. A missed three-point shot. Continued on page 8

Lady Pumas survive close calls over Ashland, Indy

By Brendan Foley

The Lady Pumas continued to roll by posting slim conference victories over Ashland and Indianapolis and by destroying Quincy College (Ill.). The 7th ranked team in NCAA Division II is now 22-0 overall and 12-0 in the GLVC. They are also the only undefeated team in Division II.

Saint Joe snuck by Indianapolis on Feb. 10 behind 35 points by Jeannette Yeoman. The victory culminated a series of four road games, three of which the Lady Pumas won by a combined four points.

After falling behind 23-12 midway through the first half, Saint Joseph's went on an 18-7 run to tie the score. From there they built a 45-39 lead.

The seesaw battle continued into the second half until the Lady Pumas took the lead for good with about 10 minutes remaining. Despite five more ties during the remainder of the game, Saint Joe held on for a 86-85 victory.

In a moment of relief from

Yeoman eyes all-time mark

Jeannette Yeoman, the Lady Pumas all-time leading scorer, surpassed the 2000 point mark against the University of Indianapolis on Saturday, Feb. 10.

She is currently 119 points behind Jim Thordsen's (men's all-time leading scorer) mark of 2,148 total points. Yeoman needs to average 20 points per game in the remaining six games.

Undefeated SOS leads IM league through five games

By Norb Gray

In the intramural B league division, SOS leads at 5-0 and has scored a league high 110 points in one game. Fourteen teams make up this year's B league.

Too Hype, Hawg and TLO, Bad Boys and Ghetto Boyz are tied for second place with 4-1 records. The faculty representative, Fal Staff, is alone in third with a 3-2 mark.

Four teams are 2-3 up to this point: Blue Team,

Heavy Favs, Home Boys, and Snakes. Three teams hold 1-4 records and sitting in the cellar is M and M.

Mike Jacobs is the league's leading scorer, averaging 33.4 points per game and has the highest single game total of 53 points.

Jeff Farus is second with a 30.2 ppg average, followed by Mike Baldwin (26.8), Todd Navarrete (24.4) and Jim Hilvert (21.2).

attempt by the Pumas with seven seconds remaining left only a scramble for the ball as the final buzzer sounded.

Harper led the Pumas with 18 points. Kosky added 13 points, Todd Grace had 12 and Rodney Gates contributed 10. Harper and Kosky also lead in rebounds with nine each and Todd Grace had six.

The Pumas face Lewis at home in a conference game tonight at 7:35.

Stupid Cupid

Believe me ladies, men get lonely too. Valentine's Day is the perfect time to get closer to ones boyfriend or girlfriend and tell each other things that would make him or her feel good. And by all means, hugging, kissing and caressing are extremely important. However, there should not be any S-E-X; heaven knows we do not do that sort of thing on this campus; the thought of it is absolutely absurd.

SUITCASE PARTY

Trips to Orlando, Fla., Indianapolis to be raffled

By Amy Bohney

"Suitcase Party" is the name of the place where people really do win! "It's a chance to relax and get away from Saint Joe," said junior Sheryl Fritz, SUB's chairperson of communications.

A trip for two to sunny Orlando, Fla. is the grand prize for the drawing at SUB's Suitcase Party dance. The trip includes the limousine ride to and from the airport, airfare, and all transfers. The winner will also receive two nights lakeside lodging at the Days Inn, day passes for Disney World, and a day cruise off Port Canaveral.

What else could the winner possibly ask for? How about cash? Yes, the grand prize winner will also receive 200 dollars spending money!

The first prize winner will receive a relaxing weekend for two at the Embassy Suites, downtown Indianapolis. The trip includes the limousine ride to and from Indianapolis, complimentary beverages, a carriage ride, and $50.

The second prize is $50 cash.

In order to win any of the three prizes, one must buy raffle tickets, at 1 dollar per chance. However, "If you wear beach wear to the party, you will receive a free raffle ticket if we don't sell them all.

And, they're going fast," said Fritz.

In order to win either the grand prize or first prize, one must be at the dance with his or her suitcase packed and ready to leave directly from the dance for his or her trip.

Prizes from the drawing is not the only thing the Suitcase Party has to offer. Several door prizes, such as beach towels, beach balls, and Frisbees will be given out. People can play volleyball or Frisbee, just like at a beach. Also, the D.J. for the evening will be taking requests.

Kick the winter blahs with Air Guitar, booster towels

"It's too cold to walk to class!" "I just don't feel like going out!" "Not snow again!" "If I go outside, I'll have icicles hanging from my nose!"

This sounds like a bad case of he "winter blahs". Fortunately, the Student Union Board has devised a plan to alleviate some of the "blahs". Their plan is called "I Hate Winter Weekend".

Starting off the weekend early on Tuesday, Feb. 15, at 7:30 p.m. is the men's basketball game. During half time booster towels will be thrown out into the crowd, which is also sponsored by the Athletic Department. The towels have "I Hate Winter Weekend" and palm trees printed on them.

Friday night at 9:00 pm starts the chance to win big at the "Suitcase Party" dance.

Air Guitar is the event for Saturday night at 9:30 pm. "It's a lot like a lip sync," said junior Sheryl Fritz, chairperson of communications for SUB, "but you have to have a song that has a guitar in it."

"We're trying to give everybody something to do on the weekend," said Fritz.
